

JW: Would you have considered yourself his girlfriend?

Grace: Oh, I was young, and then...yeah, I guess. I mean, in a loose sort of a way.

JW: Yeah.

G: We didn't, we weren't...I don't know that either one of us was dating anybody else, but neither one of us dated very much at all. He was really busy, because he was on the wrestling team, and he sang in the choir, and he was in band and the orchestra. I was in awe because he was so darn smart.

JW: Yeah.

Grace: And he played bass. I loved that he played bass.

JW: Yeah.

Grace: I thought that was...oh my goodness. I don't know why I loved that so much, but I just did. I just thought that was great.

JW: That's so cool. Would you...?

Grace: I liked that better than the wrestling. I never thought that much of the wrestling.

JW: Right.

Grace: I really liked that he was a musician. Oh my gosh!

JW: [laughs]
