

Robert: I do remember one time. I do. I think it was Thanksgiving...that all of us were together. One time. Because I remember we had to get the extension leaves in the table. And we really didn't have a big living room, or (I mean) dining room. It was really kind of small and the end of the table kind of almost went into the living room like that. I remember that. And it was Thanksgiving. But that's the only one I remember.

JW: You remember the leaves. That's so interesting.
